

Dear Parents/ Carers,

As part of our drive to maintain, promote and engage pupil interest in reading, the school is having a WORLD BOOK day on Thursday 7th March.

Dressing Up

This year we are going to have a whole school theme based around the book 'The Day the Crayons Quit' by Oliver Jeffers. We are asking children to dress up as their favourite coloured crayon from the book. However, we appreciate that some children have already started buying or making their costumes so they are more than welcome to wear these if they would rather.

Read with your child/children

At 2.45 we would like to invite parents, grandparents and carers in to share a book with their child/ children, this could be a book from the school library or a book your child has chosen to bring in from home.

Book Swap

This year we would like to host a book swap. If your child has a book they no longer read and would like to trade it for a new book, maybe one they haven't read before, then can they please bring their old book/ books to Miss Stretton on Thursday morning in exchange for a raffle ticket. They can then bring their raffle ticket to the Book Swap, which will be held in the hall after school, to trade their raffle ticket for another book.

Decorate a Potato

We are asking each child to decorate a potato with their favourite book character and return it to school by Wednesday 6th March so each class can take part in a 'guess the book' quiz. Reading different books every evening, in preparation for this would be great! So get thinking and reading!

We look forward to seeing your child dressed up for the special day on Thursday 7th March.

Thank you for your co-operation,

Miss Stretton
